Eyelash lifting or perming is a way to curl your natural eyelashes. The results of eyelash lifting vary and depend on the individual's natural lash length and strength. A silicone mold is placed on the upper eyelid, which is used to curl the lashes with the perming solution. Lower eyelashes are secured with gel eye pads to prevent contact with perming solution. Tint adds color to your natural eyelashes and can be added to your service for an additional cost. Patients with allergies or sensitivities to instruments, fumes, tapes, cleaners, gel eye pads, adhesives or removers should inform service provider before the start of the appointment.

As eyelashes naturally shed and regrow, the permed lashes eventually fall out. In order to maintain the results, retouch appointments are recommended every 6-8 weeks. There must be at least 6 weeks between appointments.

Water and steam must be avoided for 24 hours post treatment. Avoid using creams, eye makeup remover, lotions or cleansers around the eyes for 24 hours. Do not rub, scratch or pull at eyelashes.
